The theory of structuration is a social theory of the creation and reproduction of social systems that is based in the analysis of both structure and agents (see structure and agency), without giving primacy to either. Further, in structuration theory, neither micro- nor macro-focused analysis alone is sufficient. The theory was proposed by sociologist Anthony Giddens, most significantly in The ...

Case studies of previous sociotechnical transitions 5 suggest that niche innovations can break through when their growing internal momentum combines with increasing tensions within the existing sociotechnical system and growing pressures on that system from the external landscape. In combination, these create "windows of opportunity"™ for radical change.
